Phishing Alert: Beware of emails asking you to transfer money

We've observed phishing emails from unknown persons claiming to be from Axis Bank. These fraudulent messages state that your account received an erroneous credit and ask you to transfer the money back. While these emails may look convincing, with our logo and links making them look like they have been issued from our online banking portal, they are not from us.

Please do not respond to or transfer money based on these phishing emails.

How to Identify a Phishing Email:

- Check the sender's email address carefully. Official email address of Axis Bank is info@alerts.axis
